Gratefulness

The ongoing life of Nature

Reflection on Gratitude

Nature refreshes because beauty inspires. God's beauty in nature will recharge our minds, our emotions, our overall well being. God created nature for us, and we were created to live in a garden of nature, not a garden of concrete and buildings. "He makes me lie down in lush green meadows; He leads me besides still waters. He restores my soul". As we commit to slowing our lives and giving time to interact with nature, even it is a lunch outside and not in an office, or sitting in a backyard, patio, or park, we take time to restore our souls. Nature is an anecdote to stress and for this we can be grateful.

Keeping Christmas

It is a good thing to observe Christmas day. The mere marking of times and seasons, when men agree to stop work and make merry together, is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his own little watch, now and then, by the great clock of humanity which runs on sun time.

But there is a better thing than the observance of Christmas day, and that is, keeping Christmas.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, and your duties in the middle distance, and your chances to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow-men are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts, hungry for joy; to own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life, but what you are going to give to life; to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around you for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness--are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear on their hearts; to try to understand what those who live in the same house with you really want, without waiting for them to tell you; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts, and a garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open--are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world--stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death--and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of the Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas.

And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

But you can never keep it alone.

Henry van Dyke

Henry van Dyke was a member of the clergy, this story reads like a sermon for good reason. Its full title is A Short Christmas Sermon: Keeping Christmas. Van Dyke also composed lyrics to the popular hymn, "The Hymn of Joy" sung to Beethoven's Symphony No. 9, "Ode to Joy."

We Need Your Help!

The facilities at Saint Jeanne de Lestonnac School sets us apart from most, if not all, private Catholic schools in Orange County. One facility that all of our students benefit from is the Field of Dreams. But, as with all upgrades, the facility and its benefits to the school come with a price. We hope that you can find it in your means to help our efforts in raising money for this great facility. Click to read more and how to help...
